

Tungsten PARITON UI

The Tungsten PARITON UI strategy aims to achieve a stable absolute return by combining several different asset classes in a multi asset portfolio.

The Tungsten PARITON UI fund considers only those assets that deliver an attractive risk/return ratio. To avoid a one-sided allocation, weights to these assets are assigned using a special risk balancing method. The employment of such risk balancing promises high risk-adjusted returns (Sharpe ratios) as the aggregate portfolio risk is managed very effectively. Due to the low risk nature of certain asset classes the fund may employ leverage in order to achieve a relatively constant level of volatility. The expected return of the strategy is 3%-6% p.a. above Euribor (1m).

Monthly comment

The markets continue to be significantly influenced by the trade war, central bank measures, the upcoming Brexit and the Twitter account of the US President. The FED has lowered interest rates and towards the end of the month the implicit probability of a further rate cut in October also increased in the Fed Funds Futures. In the negative interest rate environment, the ECB is now doing a little harder with interest rate cuts, but Mario Draghi once again unpacked a QE bazooka. Thus, it was European equities in particular that came up with higher price gains. Bonds corrected somewhat downwards from their high levels - market participants seem to assume that the measures taken by the Fed and the ECB will have a positive effect. PARITON benefited from all this and recorded another positive month with a profit of around half a percent.
